Guest Bedroom

This bedroom's terra-cotta and sky-blue color scheme is plucked from outdoors. "The fall leaves in the surrounding vineyards and Napa's hilltop vistas inspired it," explains San Francisco designer Melanie Coddington. She didn't confine the nature theme to Napa, however. Her design walks on the wild side with a zebra-pattern fabric on a wing chair. A nearby table takes the shape of a gilded tree stump. Overhead is one of the room's most whimsical flights of fancy: a white, feathery fixture inspired by (what else?) swan wings. Birds of a different feather flock together on the bed's avian print pillow shams. "The furnishings took a cue from nature while upping the glam factor," says Coddington. ▶

2013 Napa Valley Showhouse

Traditional Home is proud to announce the second Napa Valley Showhouse, October 10–November 17, to benefit the Napa Valley Film Festival. This year's showhouse is located on the grounds of the historic Charles Krug Winery at 2800 Main Street in St. Helena, California, and will be open 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesdays–Sundays (closed Mondays). For ticket and event information, visit traditionalhome.com/napashowhouse2013.

We're also pleased to again be the national media sponsor of the Napa Valley Film Festival, November 13–17. It's a showcase of fine filmmaking, enriched with the world-class food and wine of the legendary Napa Valley. For details, visit napavalleyfilmfest.org.

2012 Supporters

We extend our gratitude to our sponsors of the 2012 Napa Valley Showhouse and Film Festival: Berti, Barlow Tyrie, Bevolo, Circa Lighting, Duralee, Henredon, Hickory Chair, Karastan, Lane Venture, Lee Industries, Match, Natural-Decorations Inc., Pratt & Lambert Paints, Rogaska, Sunbrella Fabrics, and VTech.

Special Thanks

We'd also like to express our deep appreciation to our dedicated partners and the many volunteers who made our first-ever Napa Valley Showhouse possible. Special thanks to Shilah Salmon, Cardinale; Tony Manning, Mitchell Manning Associates; Rita Burris and Philippa Perry, On-Site Showhouse Managers; and Monica Barrows and Eden Umble, Napa Valley Film Festival.
