A customized light display evokes the cosmos in a dome above the second-floor landing (opposite, top); a nearby diptych by Paul Reed is one of several works by Washington Color School artists acquired for the home. Another, by Sam Gilliam (opposite, bottom), animates the master suite sitting room. Lighting and draperies by Gretchen Everett Design, seamlessly integrated into custom millwork (above), can be automatically controlled on site or remotely via a system by A.B.E. Networks.

The remodeled kitchen (opposite page) centers around two islands. Cherry cabinetry is topped by quartzite counters with ogee detailing. A red Lacanche stove adds a pop of color while three sinks are strategically located. A spacious breakfast nook affords water views. The rec room (this page) boasts a vaulted, beamed ceiling above a pair of large sectionals upholstered in hardy Crypton. The Stanton Furniture rug is timeless in navy and white; leather cube ottomans provide extra seating by twin Hickory White coffee tables.
